

What could tempt some to "Leave the Faith?"

How can I feel better about these bad decisions I have made?

I'm not sure I ever really believed all this stuff in the Bible anyway. I can't see how it's really done me any good.

These non-Christian professors are asking questions that I can't answer. Maybe they're right after all.

How can I claim to believe things that I can't really prove?

I think I'll have friends more to my liking if I sort of "soft-pedal" all this Christian stuff.

I think I will seem a lot "cooler" if I just fit in with the others and don't worry too much about my Christian upbringing.

I'm only young once. Doesn't everybody try out some of these things when they are young? I'll have plenty of time to "act old" later on.

How could all these scientists possibly be wrong?

Anyway, where did Cain get his wife?

These non-Christian people seem like pretty good people. They seem nicer than a lot of Christians I know!

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour. (1 Peter 5:8)
